Forecast for Tuesday 01 Oct 2024

Weather: Cloud and any fog patches lifting during the morning, and any early spots of rain clearing, to leave a generally fine day with some sunny intervals. Cloud increasing from the northeast during the late afternoon and evening, with some fog developing on the hill tops, and perhaps the odd spot of drizzle later.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 30% at first rising to 70% or more during the day, then falling to around 40% during the evening.

Low cloud and visibility: Early cloud obscuring routes above about 400 metres lifting and breaking to give periods of cloud above the hill tops by the afternoon. Cloud lowering back onto hills above about 600 metres during the evening. Visibility generally good or very good out of fog patches early on and again later.

Meteorologist's View

Navigation may prove difficult both early and late on in the day given fog patches. Plenty of warm clothing will be required, as it will be feeling cold, especially on the hill tops.

Forecast for Wednesday 02 Oct 2024

Weather: A cloudy start with the odd spot of drizzle and perhaps some fog patches on the hill tops and northeast facing slopes. Cloud lifting to give a mostly dry day with increasing amounts of sunshine, though a small chance of a light shower developing briefly around the middle of the day. Becoming mostly clear during the evening.

Maximum wind: East to northeast 10 to 15 mph with gusts 20 to 22 mph.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: Around 30% at first, rising to 70% or more during the day and 90% or more in the evening, given the likelihood of clear skies.

Low cloud and visibility: Fog patches on the hill tops at first giving poor visibility. Cloud generally lifting above the hill tops before clearing later, with visibility good or very good, likely excellent later. Should any light showers develop during the day visibility dropping briefly to moderate or good.

Temperature: Valleys: PS 08C rising to PS 16C.
At 600m: PS 05C rising to PS 11C.
Freezing level: Above the hill tops throughout.
